

Standards for Consideration to be a Diplomate Supervisor in Clinical Pastoral Education/Training

The following is a list of requirements for Diplomate. Some would be requirements or prerequisites. Others may not be absolute requirements, but should be considered in the evaluation by the board.

Pre-requisites:

- CPSP-Philippines certified Clinical Chaplain
- Active Member of CPSP-Philippines in good standing
- Completed 5 full units as a supervisor in the Supervisor-in-Training (SIT) program as prescribed by CPSP-Philippines.
- Recommended by the SIT Supervisor to be considered for Diplomate
- Sub-speciality unit or mentorship (desirable, not required).
- Status in Religious Organization (ordination, commissioning, informal status)

Paperwork:

- Theological Integration Paper.
  1. How do you understand persons as creatures of God or how do you understand persons in relationship with ultimate reality as defined in your faith tradition?
  2. How do you critically reflect upon your own religious/spiritual heritage and current beliefs/theological practice in relationship to CPSP-Philippines's culture and mission?
  3. How do you think theoretically, based on your faith tradition, about interpersonal relationships, human suffering, and relationship with the transcendent or ultimate reality?
  4. What theologians, teachers, and/or spiritual resources inform your theoretical stance?
  5. How do you understand the interplay between your cultural context and theological/spiritual perspective formation or development, as it is understood in your faith tradition, and how spiritual care is offered in a multicultural, multifaith environment?
- Philosophy of Supervision Paper. There are many different philosophies of supervision that come from the social sciences (such as didactic, therapeutic, and relational), as well as principles that come from the Bible. What is the belief system as far as how supervision should be done,.
- Two cases of pastoral counseling
- Two cases of supervision of a trainee/supervisee

Education: List all formal and semi-formal and experiential training

- Theological training
- Ministerial training
- Social sciences training

Psychoemotional Assessment: I don't believe we can require things in this area, but we certainly can encourage in this area.

- Psychological testing--- personality or temperament testing (PRF, Myers-Briggs, Taylor-Johnson, etc.) that has been taken and reviewed by a psychometrician.
- Psychotherapy sessions

Experiences relevant to supervision:

- Ministry and Management
- Educational
- Group Work/Mentoring
- Other

Ethics: Demonstrate understanding of, agreement with, and determination to abide by the CPSP-Philippines Ethical standards

Ministerial Role/Activity: CPSP-Philippines does not require ordination or ecclesiastical letters from a religious group or denomination. However, it is expected that all supervisors are actively involved in a faith community and in some way recognized as a ministering agent of that faith community.

Board:

1. The board should consist of at least four members. Two of the board members, at a minimum, are diplomates. At least 50% of the diplomates are CPSP-Philippines members in good standing.
2. The board will review all of the paperwork prior the board, but will discuss all paperwork with the candidate during the board.
3. The board will also go through one “fresh” pastoral counseling case and one “fresh” supervisory case with the candidate (additional to the cases that were submitted prior to the board).
4. The board should take no less than 2 hours and no more than 4 hours
5. The board will submit a consensus finding to the Standards Committee and Board of Trustees for review.
